Cannabis at 2018 UUA General Assembly

As many of you know, Joy Grainge will be a presenter at the 2018 UUA General Assembly. Friday night will be the networking session, Cannabis Justice. Saturday Joy will present her conference poster—Cannabis and the Golden Rule.

The conference poster will be 3’ x 5’ divided into 4 vertical sections. Section 1 describes the Golden Rule and Judeo-Christian history of Cannabis, and it reminds us of our Unitarian Universalist values.

Section 2 talks about our Culture of Punishment with mandatory minimums, racial and gender bias, and in Illinois fingerprinting medical cannabis patients.

The third section is called Next Steps. It’s about putting the Golden Rule into practice. Steps we could take include adding more conditions to state medical marijuana programs, decriminalization (a fine rather than jail), ending mandatory minimums, and age appropriate cannabis education.

The last section contains quotes by famous people like Jimmy Carter. It also describes what you can do such as calling your legislator or attending educational events.
President’s Column by Jerome Rowley

In the last four monthly newsletters, I started on a project of going through the seven principles of Unitarian Universalism to tie it into what I have been learning at the Integral Life institute online based on the writings of philosopher Ken Wilber. I am continuing with this project with the fifth principle, which is:

The right of conscience and the use of the democratic process within our congregations and in society at large

Although this principle talks about conscience, it actually means the notion of power within the congregation and within the society at large, particularly the power to enact change. I have found that Unitarians are sometimes reluctant to discuss the notion of power and money—because money is a form of power, mainly because of the stage of personal development that they are in, which is usually Green. What do I mean by this? Recall that in Integral Theory, there are six stages of personal and societal development that exist before the Integral stage:

- BEIGE—following natural instincts, organized around extended families or clans (survivalist)
- PURPLE—following magical thinking, organized around tribes (magical/animistic)
- RED—following authority figures, organized around central leaders (impulsive/egocentric)
- BLUE—following laws, organized around religious institutions or nation-states (purposeful/authoritarian)
- ORANGE—following scientific principles, organized around constitutions (achievist/strategic) guaranteeing rights of the individual, but also champions capitalism and the rights of corporations
- GREEN—following human needs on a societal level, organized around distributive economics and environmentally grounded ethics (communitarian/egalitarian)

Although our President is definitely at the Red stage of personal development, with his tendencies towards authoritarianism, most of his followers in the Republican party are either in the Blue or “traditionalist” stage (think “God and country”) or in the Orange or “modern” stage, which happens to be where the “Wall Street” or political establishment are.

The Green stage is the post-modernist stage and the Democratic party is divided between this stage and its leaders who are members of the political and financial establishment who support more Orange values. So there are three cultural stages “online” at the same time in the US, and what makes our political situation in our country so volatile is that there are three stages of cultural evolution that fit into two parties. So many Democratic voters for example did not support the establishment candidate Hillary Clinton, but rather the progressive candidate Bernie Sanders.

One of the problems for Green is that they have risen to prominence in this country in the latter half of the 20th century mainly as a reaction of the excesses of the Orange level of cultural development. (Yes, the Orange level got rid of slavery—within about a century of adopting constitutions, most industrial-level civilizations had abolished slavery, with the United States being the second to last to do so as a result of the Civil War). However, it also was the birthplace of capitalism, which is more efficient than previous economic systems, but not necessarily more equitable unless constrained by governments to distribute the prosperity it generates to society at large and not just to the owners of capital.

So Green has a problem with power and money, because it sees the problems that the excesses of both can create for society. In the latter half of the 20th century, the early version of the Progressive movement was born as a reaction against monopolies that were trying to use their economic power as levers to move the government to benefit them rather than the society at large. We now face a similar concentration of wealth that mirrors that of the Gilded Age of that previous period. It is showing itself in the Democratic Party by increasing support for progressive candidates rather than establishment candidates. So many Democratic voters for example did not support the establishment candidate Hillary Clinton, but rather the progressive candidate Bernie Sanders. On the Republican side, the economic anxiety created by this economic inequality has been coupled with anxiety of those in the Blue or traditionalist that their “culture” is disappearing, with “culture” being interpreted as being equated in many cases to ethnicity.

This is why being the leader of a Green community of people is challenging, because they are by nature critical of authority in the society at large (which they determine as being run by those at the Blue and/or Orange level of cultural development)—that is why they are called post-conventional or post-modernist. But power and money can also be used for good, and in fact, are requirements for good to get done in the first place. So we have to face our natural Green resistance to them and turn them into positive tools for social change.

For example, one of the most effective ways that Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. helped end segregation in the South was not the pressure he put on the authorities politically, but also economically, for example, through organization of the boycott of the bus companies in Montgomery, Alabama. By boycotting the busses, he was also striking at the businesses in downtown Montgomery that were dependent on customers from outside the city who were brought there by those busses. So they added their voices to those of the bus companies asking the city leaders to compromise and allow desegregation of the busses. There were also hotels and other businesses that depended on tourism that were noticing that companies would not come down to the South for their conferences because of the negative image that the boycotts projected. They, too, wanted a piece of the national pie that companies were spending on conferences and they added their voice to those that were calling for reform. So economic power can be used to correct political inequality in society, and we need to look for ways to find levers to do so today as well.

In the church, the democratic process ensures that I and the rest of the Board members are not imposing our vision on the members of the congregation. When I first started as President back in 2016, I held a series of Town Hall meetings to elicit from the members the projects they felt would improve the church. Many of these ideas that were suggested have been implemented, and the church is stronger for it. Going forward, I want to make sure that the Town Hall meetings, which I now use to tell the congregation what business the Board has been conducting, can also be used like before to get your ideas for moving us forward even further. With the challenges of the past two years behind us, I hope we will reopen the church and gain new members, and have the continuing members have an even richer spiritual experience at our church. I look forward to serving you all another two years! ~Jerome

This will be an ecumenical and interfaith community blessing ceremony in the newly installed Village Green, next to the Park Forest Village Hall. Join us to build community and raise positive energies through readings, prayers, reflection and Dances of Universal Peace. The Parks and Recreation Department will give a guided walk through the new Village Green at 6:30 pm prior to the ceremony.
FLOOD UPDATE

By Nancy Irons

A bit of progress has been made . . . .
The Clean Check Valve has been installed on our sewer line, just before the join to the main village sewer. This will prevent any future floods from backing up into our building.

Unfortunately, the adjuster has not yet responded to our long list of concerns about inconsistencies and things left off the settlement proposal. He did promise to get back to us shortly. Once we have a more realistic settlement offer, we can hire a contractor to start working on the restoration and repairs. In the meantime, we are reaching out to Trenchless Innovations to proceed with the reinforcement and sealing of the front ductwork. We also have calls in to the plumber to re-pipe the sump pump to the outside. Hopefully, we can get the ball rolling on these projects shortly.

A GLOBAL DANCE CELEBRATION

Peace and Harmony among Nations and Traditions

June 3, 2018
Unitarian Church of Evanston
1330 Ridge Ave., Evanston, IL
2 – 4 pm

On June 24th 1968, the first Dance of Universal Peace (DUP) was introduced by Murshid SAM. Since then our beloved Dances and Walks have grown a global family and have filled our lives with real experiences of peace, harmony and beauty; they have brought so much to all of us in so many ways. We have a lot to be grateful for and a lot to Celebrate!

Contact Donna at dlschiller57@comcast.net for more information.
There will be a Rummage Sale at St Irenaeus on Saturday, June 9th.

There is a People of Peace Ceremony scheduled to be held on the Summer Solstice on June 21st at the Park Forest Village Green. Pat Segner will be leading Dances of Universal Peace.

Javier Chavira has a painting at Governors State University and posts artistic landscaping at home (see photos below).

JoAnn Franczek, Maria Markowicz and I attended a weekend Buddhist Retreat at Lake County UU Church (near Milwaukee) where we brought back ideas.

Joy Grainge had her idea "Cannabis and the Golden Rule" accepted by the General Assembly of UUs (a convention of UUs held in Kansas City Mo on June 22nd to 24th) for a poster. The idea involves privatized prisons (prisons for profit) and racial and gender bias - versus the inherent worth and dignity of every person.

Reiko Miyakuni has received her Doctoral degree.

Drumming is at Room to Move the 2nd Friday of the month at 7PM for $5.

Thanks to Leonard Kirchner for bringing computer software to our Church for the Pledge Drive. We are also grateful for Leonard’s patience and forbearance - the same qualities he exhibits in building his Ultra Light Plane.

The Homewood Artisian Street Fair is scheduled to be held on June 8th.

The Gebhard Woods Dulcimer Fest is scheduled to be held on June 9th in Morris IL.

Summer Solstice is the time for Tall Tree Lake's Pagan Fest scheduled to be held June 17th through 24th.

Joy Grainge's "Cannabis and the Golden Rule" idea has been chosen for the poster proposal at the General Assembly of UUs.

Reiko Miyakuni recently visited our church to share the news that she has received her Doctoral degree. She wants everyone at UUCC to know that she is very grateful for our support especially during the last 2 years which were very difficult for her. Congratulations, Dr. Reiko Miyakuni! Your dedication, perseverance and personal strength are inspiring!
Two Listening Hearts, or members of the Lay Pastoral Care team, are on hand each month to serve your needs.

They are not acting as professional counselors, but rather a source for listening, support and resources. If you do not spot one of them at church, or if you wish to talk to one of them in particular, please contact the church office at 708-481-5339.

Our June Listening Hearts volunteers will be announced at our June Sunday Services.

Please mark your calendars so you don’t miss the June 3rd RCE service. It’s always good to find out what the kids have been doing and thinking this past church year.

This coming church year, we’re trying a teacher team approach in the RCE classroom. There will be a six week rotation, so no one person will be in the classroom for an extended period of time. The lesson plans and materials will be provided. We already have people signed up, but we could use a few more. If you’re interested, please see Dan Feldt or Giggy Wagner.

OK, for the rest of this article, I’m going to write about a topic that might not seem to be Religious and Character Education related. But, to my way of thinking, it very much is. I’m proposing that we change what we call ourselves to the Unitarian Universalist Community (dropping the word church).

Back in the fifties, when the founders of our community decided what to call us, the word church was a natural addition to the name. That’s what all Christian congregations called themselves; it was standard for the times. People knew what to expect when they came and brought their kids to church: Bible stories about Adam and Eve, and Jesus and his miracles. Now I’m not sure if the Christian connotation fit the early UUCC, but I know it doesn’t fit us now. We draw our wisdom from many religious and ethical traditions.

So calling us a church misrepresents us in some ways, and it may also hurt our growth. The Barna Group, a research firm that analyzes cultural trends, estimates that the dechurched and unchurched US population is 77%. People are not interested in joining an organized Christian religion. I believe that they could be looking for a community where they can share their spiritual journey and explore their understanding of what living a good life is. They are looking for the same thing for their kids.

We need to make them aware that we exist. We shouldn’t allow the word church to trip them up at the door when there is a loving community awaiting them and their children inside. Our recent experience has shown us that a church can be temporarily empty, but a community is always full of love.

For legal purposes, our organization will still be named UUCC. But, all our communication to the world could be as the Unitarian Universalist Community. That includes our social media presence, brochures, and public announcements.

I know that this change could be perceived as uncomfortable. However, I think it’s an important step for us so we can reach out and find the people who are looking for us.

What do you think?

~Dan

Please Note: First Friday is taking the summer off. The next First Friday will be in October.
The Star Wars Universe & Planetary Climates

Our Star Wars planets show us different climates for different conditions. (See full article HERE).

Hoth is an ice planet with low co2. Due to its ice it has high reflectivity (or albedo), more of the energy is reflected back out this atmosphere.

Tatooine is a desert planet with low water vapor and high co2. It is dry and does not have water vapor as a fast feedback. Therefore it takes more co2 to get it to desert conditions.

Earth is a water planet and has rising co2. It would seem we are trying to reach Tatooine status. So in essence we are a Hoth like planet at our poles and more like a Tatooine planet (desert) and also jungle in the equatorial zone (equator). As we add more co2 to the planet, our Tatooine (desert) and jungle heads toward the poles.

As much as our lives depend on fossil fuels, now we need to go to a cleaner energy way of life. Our Hoth like ways are getting reduced by our very own co2 pollution.

Green Sanctuary is working on this issue on our church level and on other larger levels. If anyone would like to join us in our effort, we have about 6 people that are working on this. Andy Stevens, Melinda Elliot, Joy Grange, Rich Oram, De Anne Wilson, Jeff Green. We welcome more people to work forward on this issue.

First Unitarian Church of Hobart is looking for an Office Manager (half-time). This position is available immediately. The deadline for the application has been extended. For more details, click HERE.

Dr. Gloria Latimore Peace is the Host and Producer of The H3O Television program which airs in the Chicago Metropolitan area on Chicago Access Network Television ([CAN-TV] Channel 19).

The H3O Show is telecast every Friday from 8:30PM-9:30PM. It repeats on Sundays from 3:30PM-4:30PM. Our program offers interviews with outstanding leaders in the areas of History, Culture, Health, Nutrition and Spirituality.

The next Rainbow Cafe meets on June 15th at 6:30pm. Movie: FREAK SHOW AT TRINITY LUTHERAN CHURCH IN PARK FOREST-2901 Western Ave
Billy Bloom has absolutely no desire to be like everyone else. When others call him theatrical, he takes it as a compliment. ‘The nail that sticks out gets hammered down’, his father warns him. That does not deter Billy from deciding to run for homecoming queen. Somewhere in-between David Bowie, Lady Gaga, Freddy Mercury and Oscar Wilde, in the transgressive space of pop culture and dressed up as a high school comedy with wit, heart and a dazzling cast, Freak Show is about the violence of conformity and the power of self-determination.
